

I feel that Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law should remain as is. The fact that I do not have to worry about every call being someone that is trying to sell me something, is very comforting to me. Due to the persistence that I experienced while dealing with these telemarketers, I believe this law to be one of the most important recent Indiana laws.